Seelyville Miners Are Pursuing a-Party Which Crossed the River to Illinois.

SEARCH GIST

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. VINCENNES, Ind., June 3 .- Frank Butler, Wallace Lanceback and Clide S. Carmichel, miners of Seelyville, are hot on the trail of a band of gypsies supposed to be the kidnapers of Richmond Byers, of Seelywith them to-night by Ignatz Mikska a Vincennes publican, from whom the gypsies bought tobacco and hurriedly crossed the river into Illinois. TERRE HAUTE, Ind., June 2.-The search for the four-year-old son of Dr. Byers, of Seelyville, missing since Sunday evening, was conducted to-day by more than 1,000 men, most of them miners. There had been a general search yesterday by several hundred men, and last night at an informal meeting on the highway of the mining town an appeal was made for a more systematic and thorough search today. This meant idleness at all mines, and the day was given over to dynamiting ponds, exploring ditches and al! places in which the child could have met with physihis way home unassisted. Two abandoned mines were more minutely examined to-day than was done yesterday. There was a report that he had been seen near the entry to one of these mines. The belief that he had been kidnaped increased as the day's search went on without trace of him. The last report of him was Sunday at 4 o'clock, when he was at "where he got his black eye.". The man went on, but it is possible that he was one of several gypsy parties which have been in the surrounding country, and one of which parties is said to have gone through Seelyville about that time Sunday. Dr. Byers returned to-night from following a band of gypsies, going west from Terre Haute, who were reported to have a white boy with them. The report was false. Late to-night a report came in regarding a party of movers seen near Farmersburg who are said to have a boy with them who is not their own, and a party has gone in pursuit The failure of to-day's exhaustive search for the bouy of the boy in all the places where he is likely to have met with mishap has added to the theory that he has been kidnaped. Rewards will be offered to-morrow for his return if alive and for the re-covery of his body if dead.

CULVER CADETS OCCUPY STAGE AT WORLD'S FAIR

Beardsley for Senator and Daus- Review by Governor Durbin, Special Drills and Dedication of a Statue Take Place.

RESOLUTIONS PLANS FOR INDIANA DAY

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. ST. LOUIS, June 2.-Indiana is well represented at the world's fair this week. Today Culver Military Academy had a "Culver day," and to-morrow the Indiana building will be formally dedicated. The rain of this morning, added to those of preceding days, prevented the use of the Stadium for the drills, but the exercises of the day were replete with interest. The arrival of Governor Durbin and a part of hart; surveyor, J. L. Cooper, Goshen; com-missioners, C. A. Davis, Goshen, and Fran-cis E. Berlin, Locke township.

Rain marred the morning programme, and the cadets and Black Horse Troop were forced to seek the cover of the Hale Fire Fighters' pavilion. The Stadium was muddy and uninviting. Among those who accompanied Governor Durbin were Adjutant General Ward, Quartermaster General Perry, Colonel Lockwood, Mrs. Durbin and Mrs. Lockwood. The Governor did not wear his uniform, but members of the staff were resplendent in military insignia. There was a review of the battalion by the Governor, after which the cadets gave a two hours' drill and an exhibition of military tactics and special training. The most interesting features were Cossack riding by the Black Horse Troop and the construction of a twenty-seven-foot spar and rope bridge

The Culver cadets have a record of constructing such a bridge in three minutes and thirty-nine seconds and taking it down in one minute and three seconds. Therealso were exhibitions of scaling high walls without apparatus, or daredevil blanket riding and a Butts manual drill. Three command, time being kept by the Culver PLAINFIELD FARMER

dorse Stolen Paper, Draws on It and Disappears. Three weeks ago Luke Duffy, a Plainfield farmer, hired a strange young man, giving his name as Eli McBride, of Lima, O., to work on his farm. McBride proved to be the best man Duffy had ever engaged. So valuable did he become that other farm the newcomer, who then gave up his job. The man from Lima intimated that he did not have to work, and to prove it exhibited a certificate of deposit from a Lima bank. which showed that he had $600 to his credit. Later he stated that he intended to buy a horse and asked Duffy to indorse his certificate of deposit so that he could draw $50. Duffy did so, and the certificate was depos-ited in the Citizens' Bank at Plainfield. McBride then checked against it for $50 and disappeared. So did a gold watch, the property of Mrs. Duffy, and various other articles of jewelry. It has developed that the certificate for $600 was storen from the original McBride in Lima, and that the
